NEW MUSEUM EXCITES TOWN

Atticus Auden is here to save the town from boredom. Saturday, Sir Auden spoke of the engaging exhibits that will soon be available to the public and crowds could barely contain their excitement.

After two long years, Auden Museum is set to open October 1st of this year. The main exhibits highlighted will be:

- Avocado: A Way of Life
- A Sip with Graham Young
- Curry with Lakhvir Kaur Singh
- Make Up with Giulia Tofana

A direct quote from the savior himself:

As if... (eye roll)

When I first visited H. Town, I knew this town needed saving. Now, I don't want to call people out, so let's just say I met with a museum person... I'll call him PlumeToosh, and became bored. I can only imagine what this town has suffered from over the years dealing with him. But have no fear, Atticus is here.

Be sure to check out his museum and learn about some killer things!

OBITUARIES

Ross Greene, 40

The third time is not the charm for Mrs. Greene. Mr. Ross Greene was a beloved man who leaves behind a wife, Roberta Greene and a cat named Sassi Pants.

His death came as a shock to the family as he was only 40 years old and in good health.

Mrs. Greene requests all monetary donations be sent directly to her as she is foregoing a funeral at this time. She also asks that no flowers be sent as money would be more useful in a time like this.

Serves him right. He called her kitten ugly! How Rude!

DIVORCES

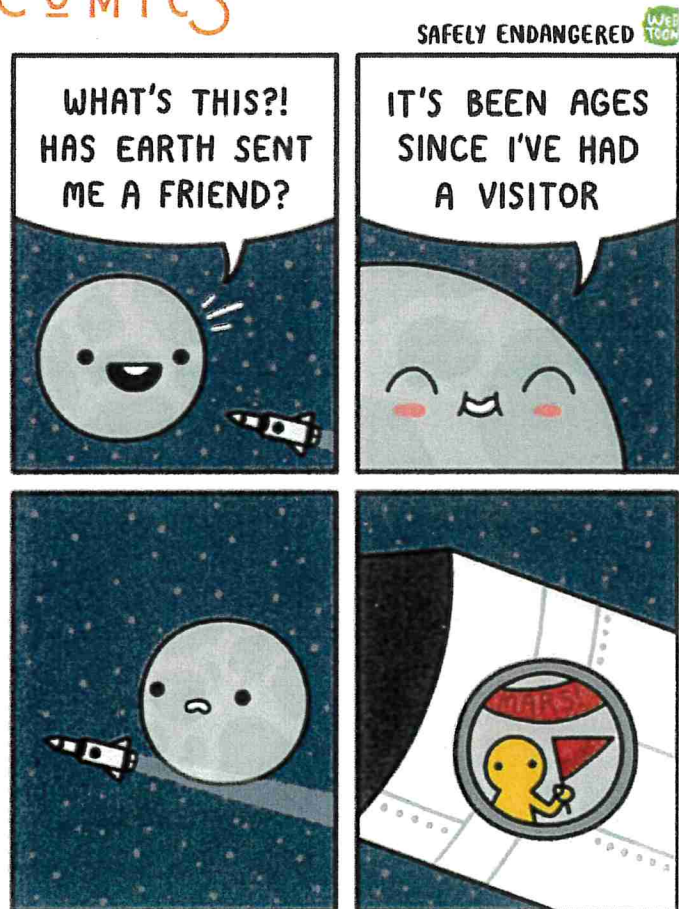

Auden

After two short years the Atticus and Moira partnership has come to an end due to extramarital affairs. Follow Moira No Longer Auden on Instagram for more details.

Ceaser

Liz and Peter Ceaser end their five year marriage due to disagreeing on pizza toppings. The H.Town Daily News would like to go on record that Liz is correct and pineapple does not belong on pizza.
